Survey Responses 77 · Tried it 58 of 77 (75%) · Average rating 4.0 of 5 (57 ratings) · Would buy: yes 31 (42%), maybe 29 (39%), no 14 (19%) of 74 who answered · Did not try: didn't see it 7, not for me 5, gone by the time I looked 7

> "SAMPLE Honestly these were gone from our kitchen by Wednesday afternoon, which is a shame because I only got one bag and I wanted to bring one home for my partner, who eats salty snacks all day and is always looking for something that isn't rice cakes or those puffed things. I'd buy a box if the price is close to what I pay for chips at the deli downstairs, and I'd like a bigger bag, maybe a family size, for the weekend."

> "SAMPLE Good crunch and not too salty, but I was a bit confused by the card because I thought the QR code was for ordering more for the office, not for a survey, so I almost didn't scan it at all. Maybe say on the front that it's three questions and takes 20 seconds, and that it goes to the people who make it. Also the bag was hard to open with one hand, which matters at a desk."

> "SAMPLE Not for me, the texture was a little dry and it stuck to my teeth, and I usually go for something sweeter in the afternoon. My two teammates liked it a lot though, and one of them asked me where the store was, so the line on the card about where to find it was actually useful. Would try a different flavor if you bring one, maybe something with rosemary or a little heat, honestly."

What we learned

- SAMPLE Offices F and H ran out before day 5 even after top-ups, and office D placed a day late because the pantry owner was out; size units to Tuesday headcount and confirm a backup receiver.
- SAMPLE Seven people said it was gone by the time they looked, so supply, not interest, limited trial in two offices; the 10% reserve was not enough for the larger offices.
- SAMPLE Several people read the QR as a reorder link; the card could say "three questions, 20 seconds" beside the code, and the bag is hard to open one-handed.

Recommendation

SAMPLE Renew into offices A, F and H with 20% more units each, and add two new offices in NoMad. Keep the card, add "three questions, 20 seconds" beside the QR, and consider the larger bag that two comments asked for before the next drop.

Limitations. Each number is a separate step, counted as stated. Delivered: our count at handoff. Placed: units visible in the placement photo; an office may hold some back for later. Depleted: from photos or the pantry owner's count by day 5; one person may take several, and sharing and disposal are invisible. Tuesday headcount: a range the office reports; not everyone visits the pantry. Survey responses: anonymous and self-selected, from small samples, so one answer can move a share by several points. A QR scan is curiosity, not intent. Code redemptions: reported by the brand; some of those people would have bought anyway. Retailer sales, where shown, are confounded by everything else that happened that month and are suggestive only. Incremental purchases were not measured, so this report does not show whether the campaign caused any sale.
